24 & 27 May 2010. CMLHS Community Services on 24 May turned gleeful with vigorous and candid acts by a group of 176 pupils accompanied by 12 teachers from Sekolah Kebangsaan Wira; and later, on 27 May, 80 pupils with 12 teachers from Sekolah Kebangsaan Seri Mahkota. One day after another, the groups who were UPSR 2010 candidates merrily flocked to UMP looking naive, yet with eager minds mainly to participate in the motivational programmes hosted by the centre.

Due to the huge crowd, both events had to be held at WDKU 1 at Block W, UMP, from 8.30 am to 2.00 pm.

SK Wira pupils showed a deep interest with the layout of FKKS Lab.

The objectives of both events were to fortify the spirit and awareness among the pupils to strive for excellent UPSR results. Thus, to boost their enthusiasm, apart from the motivational talk delivered by the experts from the centre, the pupils went on a tour to UMP library as well as to witness some of the latest technology at the Faculty of Chemical Engineering & Natural Resources (FKKS) Labs.

Earlier, to illuminate the morning session, there were musical interlude by Mohd Edeazry Hamzah as well as some bonuses given out during 'Language Diversity' event which were conducted by CMLHS foreign language teachers. Before departing, the visitors got together for a congregational zuhur prayer at UMP mosque.

The events were part of community services planned for the centre's 2010 calendar and coordinated under CMLHS Community Service Unit to ensure the smoothness of the programmes. The programmes achieved its targets because everyone including the school teachers experienced a kindred spirit of fulfilment till the end of the programme.
